Best and Worst.
"Is this the best wurst you can send me?" asked the lady who walked into the meat store with a package of that edible in her hand. "Madam," answered the meat man

"it is the best wurst we have." Well, it is the worst wurst I ever

"I am sorry to hear that. The best I can do is to try and send you some better wurst from today's iot; but, as ! said, that is the best wurst we have at present. I am sure, however, that the wurst we are now making will not be any worse than this, and it ought to be better. I assure you that as soon as I get the wurst you shall have the best if it. We never gave any one the the wurst business, and you may be sure that when we give you your wurst it will be the best, for our worst wurst is better wurst than the best wurst of our competitors."

But the lady, whose eyes had taken on a stare of glassiness, was seen to throw up her hands and fiee from the place, for she was afraid the worst was yet to come.—Baltimore American.

The Paris Mousetrap.

Paris has been described as a gigantic mousetrap with three doors labeled. respectively, hotel, cafe and restaurant. The city has about 10,000 hotels. There are restaurants in every block, and you can find cafes at almost every step. At almost any restaurant you are sure of good cooking. You can eat well anywhere and at any price. There are scores of places where the meals cost as high as in the better restaurants of New York and hundreds where you can get a very fair dinner for 50 cents. or, if you would have wine, for 10 cents additional. There is one stock company which does an enormous busi ness in supplying cheap and good food for Parisians. It was founded by a butcher who has his shops still in different parts of the city. This company has 100 or more restaurants where you can always be sure of good service and good food. You pay for what you eat and pay for everything, but the prices

A story is told of a sudden rage into which Napoleon I, fell one day as he was at dinner. He had scarce partaken of a mouthful when apparently some inopportune thought or recollection stung his brain to madness, and, receding from the table without rising from his chair—his small stature permitted that-he uplifted his foot-dash went the table, crash went the dinner, and the emperor sprang up, intending to pace the room. Quick as a flash his waiter scratched a few magic symbols on a bit of paper, and the emperor's check had grown more than double Napoleon appreciated the delicacy of his attendant and said, "Thank you, my dear Dunand," with one of his inimitable smiles. The hurricane had

A Curious Old Vessel.

A British army officer discovered among some old manuscripts a drawing of a man-of-war which was built in 1600 for the Japanese government. The vessel was of immense size, was covered with sheets of iron and copper and was provided with two rud-

Furthermore the manuscript in which the drawing was wrapped says that "It contained a very ingenious apparatus, which was set in motion by two dozen men, equipped with iron oars."

The vessel resembled a turtle in shape and was armed with ten large

The drawing is very exact, and ex perts say there is no doubt as to its authenticity.

A Deed of Darkness.

He sits alone in a darkened room, alone in the fading light. Why are his brow so heavy with gloom and his cheeks so deadly white? But though his heart is faint with care, his courage never flinches. His eyes are fixed in a glassy stare. What is it his firm hand clinches? "A little courage," he muraurs. "Yes, a little, and all is won." A choking gurgle, more or less, a gasp and the deed is done! Without shudder or eyelid wink-Ah! It makes the heart recoil that he so quietly, calmly drank a dose of castor oil.-London Tit-Bits.

Plant Roots.

It is from the rootlets or small fibers of a tree or plant that its subsistence is obtained, and in the performance of its duty nature has given these dell cate, tender parts wonderful strength and persistence when exerted within In their search for food supply they will sometimes even penetrate soft rock to reach favored spots.

Short on Comfort.

"It must be a great comfort to you to own such splendid furniture." "Comfort! Say, there isn't but one comfortable chair in the whole lot, and my wife invariably wants to sit in that."-Cleveland Plain Dealer.
